Visit from Churchwide

The pastors were invited to lunch by Karen Mathison from the ELCA Mission Advancement and Ryan Ebner from the ELCA Foundation to thank Trinity for its support of the wider church. (Dan was invited as well but he couldn't make it. Perks of being president.) She shared with us that Trinity is the leading congregation in mission support and world hunger in her territory which includes Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, Western Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Synod Council

Next week I will visit with St. Matthew, York congregation council and to thank them for their mission support as a part of my synod council duties. Today we are pleased to have Assistant to the Bishop Dunlop, Rev. Beth Martini.

Ministry Field Education

Seminarian Alex Knepper has been visiting various classes and small groups this month. He has also been put in our assisting minister schedule. We are arranging one on ones with staff and would like to do the same with council members and ministry leaders. One way to do that is invite him to lunch following worship. Please speak to me if you would like to host him.

Campbell and Associates

Pastor Liz and I attended a very nice mini conference on design and innovation put on by our contractors Campbell and Associates. They bring in local entrepreneurs for presentations and Q&A, including breakfast and lunch. This yearly, free event is their way of giving back to the community.

Camp Hill Clergy

Trinity is hosting local clergy for lunch and conversation today. This is our second such gathering. We are hoping to strengthen ecumenical ties to lead to future community worship events or social ministry opportunities.

Your servant in Christ,

Pastor Jack Horner
