Podcast

We recorded two great podcasts in February: one with two couples who have been married for over 50 years and one with our Director of Communications, Stephanie Maurer. They were very different conversations, but (in my opinion) the best episodes we've recorded so far.

Creative Worship – February 2

The staff met in February to finalize our Lent and Easter plans, and we planned the season of Easter.

Covid-19 Task Force Meeting – February 15

The task force met to discuss any possible changes to our Covid-19 policies. We decided to remove the signs that encourage masks in the building.

New Members

We welcomed 20 new members on February 5-6. This is a wonderful and diverse group of folks. Additionally, I have made updating our new member class a goal for 2022 as a part of the strategic plan. I've begun the work to revamp our class, beginning with building a team to welcome new members to Trinity. During the last week of February, with the help of Stephanie Maurer and Tom Notestine, I wrote a letter to some of our newest members. Many of these new members joined just before the beginning of the pandemic and the goal of this letter was to rebuild their connection with Trinity.

Conference Meeting – February 17

The Cumberland Conference (our conference) met for our monthly meeting at St. Stephen's in New Kingstown.

Worship Team Meeting – February 16

We met for our quarterly meeting to discuss our volunteer needs and the plans for Lent, Holy Week, and Easter. We also discussed communion distribution and who might be the next team facilitator. We are so grateful for the wonderful leadership of our outgoing facilitator, Jane Killian.

Missions and Community Outreach Ministries – February 2 and 15

Both teams met in February to prepare for 2022. The Missions team discussed our new missionary sponsorship as well as plans for events this year. The Community Outreach Ministries team discussed the needs of some of our ministry partners in the community as well as plans for 2022 events.

Vacation – February 24-27

I also took a short vacation to celebrate my best friend, who is getting married in May. I traveled to North Carolina for the weekend.
